

The Scrapyard

The evergrowing industry of the Crystal Forest creates a lot of waste. The nearby platou became a trash dump - the largest dump in Tal' Dorei.

With time the magic of the Crystal dust fed into the pile enriching it.

Today the pile is enlarged on purpose, as all metallic scraps get enchanted in it. The changes are unpredictable, however the allure of finding hidden treasure attracts many.

Today a grand market is located at the Scrapyard, selling large quantities of enriched and enchanted metals, both precious and common.

It is said that the richest stalls in the market are the ones selling equipment to the scrap divers.
